BOARD O' TRADE ASTOUNDED AT OUR FILTH

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade last night proved to be a hummer for important business. Much of the time was spent in discussing the report of the President, E. C. Sattley, who with the Board of Health made a tour of inspection of the town to ascertain sanitary conditions. Mr. Sattley called upon G. H. Thomas who represented the press on the trip and following this report a general discussion was entered into and many suggestions were made as to the method of procedure to clean up. Mr. Thomas described some of the filthy places where humans are allowed to exist like brutes contrary to all laws of health; he told of the open vaults in the heart of the town where the stench eminates and saturates the air, he told of the condition of the alleys and vacant lots and even his words beggared a correct description. It is evident from the report of this committee that disease lurks in our midst and the Board of Trade unanimously voted to co-operate with the Board of Health in an effort to clean up. But how is it to be done? That is the question now baffling everybody. There is almost one thousand loads of filth in the town. The expense to the city means much. But it means nothing compared to the cost of fighting an epidemic with the attendant possible loss of life and ravishing of homes. In order to get at a systematic way there will be a public meeting in council chamber Monday evening and all interested in a cleaner and more sanitary town is invited to be present. The Board of Health members will be there, the Board of Trade members will be there, and it is hoped that the conscience of the community can be thoroughly aroused to immediate activity. The responsibility of such conditions will be fixed and if it is due to a derelect duty of any official or officials the sharp stick will be used for future protection.

The main part of the meeting was taken up with this discussion but other business was transacted. J. Howard Kelley, chairman of the Civic committee made a report which included some excellent suggestions. It is the plan to instal two drinking fountains for man and beast and the location and cost will be reported later. The fire alarm issue was brought forward by the same committee. It has been suggested that some systematic method of alarm be adopted so that the public as well as the department can locate the fire by the alarm. It was recommended that the board co operate in establishing a garbage disposal plant and that no time be lost in doing it.

H. Dallas McCabe made a nice talk on Chamber of Commerse banquet with regard to the Flood commission and pointing the benefits to this section.

The advisability of holding a Fourth of July celebration was discussed and it was decided to defer any celebration of a public nature until the opening of the brick road to Pricedale and then hold a general celebration asking the farmers and rural citizens to participate. The matter of subscription from Monessen for the Titanic sufferers was brought up but nothing was done. Some discussion along the line of cruelty to animals was entered into and it was decided to take steps to get an active humane agent appointed. After some chat of a general nature the Board adjourned until the next regular meeting

DUFFY AND FAMILY ARE IN HARD LUCK

James Duffey and family are in Philadelphia stranded. Readers of this paper are familiar with the troubles of this family caused mostly on account of ill health. Mr. Duffey has twice been to the state sanitarium at Mont Alto and a few weeks ago he was discharged the second time and the disease was supposed to have been arested. He sent word to Monessen for the family to meet him in Philadelphia and Mrs. Duffey and family departed for that city. The money for the trip was raised by public subscription through the efforts of Miss Marie Watson. A few days ago Miss Watson received word that the family was in the strange city without means sufficient to establish a home and that one of the children was very ill with peritonitis and had to be taken to the hospital. Miss Watson secured a few dollars from friends who knew the family and their many troubles and sent the amount to the board of charities under whose care the afflicted family was placed. It is understood that as soon as there is a change in the condition of the boy the authorities in Philadelpha will advise the family to return to Monessen.

Mr. Duffey is able to do only light work and besides himself and wife there are several small children the youngest a baby in arms. One of the boys is also a victim of tuberculosis and was confined with his father in the state institution. The Duffeys have been in and about Monessen for several years and have been subjects of charity at intervals for several years and many local people have contributed to their support and helped them out of trouble but it seems wherever they go they meet the same fate, hard luck.

Commercial's New Electric Sign

Proprietor E. J. Bonner of the Commercial Hotel, on Schoonmaker avenue, near Second street, has just had placed in front of this old and popular hostelry a handsome and attractive electric sign which is attracting much notice. This is a mark of enterprise and good judgment on the part of Landlord Bonner and an ornament to the town as well.

WHO'S TO BLAME?

Who is to blame for accumulation of filth? Some claim the ends of justice cannot be met through prosecution. In test cases brought by real estate men and ordinance officers the parties accused have been dismissed and the costs placed upon the prosecutor.

BOLD ROBBERY OF 'PHONE BOOTHS

What was probably the boldest robbery that has ever been brought to the attention of local officials was the tapping of almost a half dozen coin boxes in the booths of the Belle Telephone Co., which are placed in different hotel lobbies and drug stores around the city. It is thought that over $100.00 has been taken, although the exact amount will not be known until the records are consulted.

It is thought that the theft was committed by a former employe of the company who was discharged about last September. He has been seen here lately and was missing this morning and his whereabouts is not known. The company's officials and police officers are searching everywhere for some trace of the alleged culprit. The boxes were opened some time during last night, it is thought, by some one who was familiar with the workings and one who knew when the largest sum could be secured. Several of the boxes opened this morning were found to be empty where it was known they contained large sums last evening. This is the regular day for the semi-monthly inspection and collection.

Notice to Dog Owners

THIRD STREET VIADUCT CONTRACT AWARDED

The city council met last night at the borough building with all members present except Cheesebrough and Kent.

The matter of the new bridge or viaduct across Third street hollow was taken up and after some discussion the contract for erecting the same was awarded to the Nicolay Building Co., of Pittsburgh, the price being $50,000, work to be started inside two weeks and be finished within 120 days. The bid of this company is just a little below the bid of a Baltimore firm which was $51,000.

At first a steel structure was talked of but on more mature deliberation, investigation, etc, it was detemined that concrete could be used to better advantage and get better results more economically, as a steel structure would have been 30 feet, and the borough lay the floor while in concrete it will be 32 feet wide and completed at the contract price.

Before Council was a petition from the property owners along Third street asking that steps be placed, leading from the bridge to the street below, which would be much to the advantage of residents in that locality. Council decided to take the matter up later, as the general opinion seemed to favor the petition

As there will not be much excavation necessary, the work can be rushed along at a lively clip after a start is made, and it will not be long until Reed avenue will be unbroken from end to end and the people residing in the lower end of town will be greatly convenienced by the new viaduct.

100 Beautiful Building Lots

TWO SAVED FROM PARTY OF SEVEN

Matt Hirvonen, a screw boy an No. 8 mill at the American Sheet & Tinplate plant last night received a telegram from New York City, informing him that his wife and baby daughter had been saved from the ill-fated Titanic, which went down early Monday morning in mid ocean, torn to pieces in collision with a huge ice pack.

Hirvonen left immediately last night for New York; so great was his surprise that he scarcely took time before leaving to give any details further than that he knew his wife was to come soon, but had no knowledge of her being aboard the Titanic.

It has been learned that there was along with Mrs. Hirvonen and her baby, her brother, named Linquist and four others all men, bound for Monessen, and it is almost certain that all were drowned except the woman and baby.

Hirvonen came to Monessen last fall and has been employed at the tin mill ever since.

The telegram from New York stated that his wife and child were in a hospital suffering from shock and exposure during the awful experiences in being tossed about for hours in a life boat at the mercy of the waves and ice packs, and the loss of all her friends. Mr. Hirvonen will arrive in Monessen in a few days with his wife and baby—or as soon as they are able to leave the hospital. His people are from the northern part of Finland.

Baby's Body Wrapped in Paper

Opening an uncalled for express package which had begun to give off offensive odors, B. & O. Agent H. E. Himes, of Pt. Marion, found the decomposed body of a baby supposedly about two week old wrapped in a large sheet of common brown paper, with no clothing The package was addressed to a lady at Nilan station. It left Philadelphia on March 27 and arrived at Pt. Marion on March 31

It was put off at Pt. Marion on account of there being no station at Nilan. Coroner H. J. Bell is investigating.

The condition of some of Monessen's streets, alleys, vacant lots and back yards is due to both negligence and carelessness. For a long time people have been disgusted with the manner in which the laws of the town are enforced and they kept harping until they were tired and finally decided to keep quiet.

There are people in Monessen who have civic pride, who like to see nice homes, grassy plots and clean and well kept streets, but it takes so much effort on their part that they get discouraged in their attempts to accomplish anything of a public nature with the lax conditions in force in the town.

Corporations have torn up the paved streets until there is not a thoroughfare that can be passed along with any degree of satisfaction or pleasure. The gas company has ruined both Donner avenue and Schoonmaker avenue by tearing them up. New streets that were paved last summer are all riddled full of holes because the gas company says "no" when asked to put in latterals. Taxpayers have had no protection because the town council had a stubborn corporation to deal with and apparently no law with which to reach it.

All that the petitioner can do is pay his paving bill and shut up if a hole is dug in front of his home. This is only one of the evils we are up against. Another is the dirt and filth which has accumulated in the town during the winter. Dr. D. C. Farquhar, president of the Board of Health after his trip over the town on a tour of inspection appealed for the support of the press in getting these disease breeding dens routed out. He sees that the health of the community is at stake. He knows by virtue of his practice in medicine the known source of disease. He as well as all others say the town is filthy dirty. It does not take a tour of inspection to reveal conditions. Walk along Schoonmaker avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets and cast your eyes on the vacant lots and you will be convinced that vacant lots are used for garbage dumps. It is the same all over town. Why is this condition of affairs permitted? Have we no law to prevent it? If "Yes" in whose keeping is the law? Why should the taxpayers pay for the carting away of filth of careless or indifferent people? We here and now enter a protest against a general cleanup day, but urge that every property owner be held responsible for the condition of his property and that the law be enforced irrespective of who it is. This weapon is the only source through which Monessen will ever be kept clean and the sooner the start is made the better.

If the Titanic had been a Chinese vessel, manned by Chinese sailors not a woman or a child would have been saved, as was the case in the dreadful accident of Sunday night on the broad expanse of the Atlantic ocean. It is said to be the duty of sailors when a Chinese vessel goes down, to save men first, children next and women last. This is on the theory that men are of the most value to the country; that adoptive parents can be readily found for children, and that women without husbands are destitute and practically helpless or in a sense, worthless.

YOUNG WIFE SAVED FROM HOSPITAL

Tells How Sick She Was And What Saved Her From An Operation.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio.—"Three years ago I was married and went to housekeeping. I was not feeling well and could hardly drag myself along. I had such tired feelings, my back ached, my sides ached, I had bladder trouble awfully bad, and I could not eat or sleep. I had headaches, too, and became almost a nervous wreck. My doctor told me to go to a hospital. I did not like that idea very well, so, when I saw your advertisement in a paper, I wrote to you for advice, and have done as you told me. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and now I have my health.

"If sick and ailing women would only know enough to take your medicine, they would get relief."—Mrs. BENJ. H. STANSBERY, Route 6, Box 18, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

If you have mysterious pains, irregularity, backache, extreme nervousness, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait too long, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound now.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and such unquestionable testimony as the above proves the value of this famous remedy and should give every one confidence.

Her Course Outlined.

A young newspaper woman, disturbed in her dreams of future happiness, decided to consult a palmist, and spent an afternoon recently to visit one in West Philadelphia. She heard what the fortune-teller had to say, but was not satisfied with the results. "Well, well," she asked, impatiently, "and what sort of man will my husband be and when will I meet him?" "O-oo-oh!" half whistled the palmist. "There is no husband in sight; you will remain single all the days of your life." "I'm glad to know it," retorted the young woman. "Now I'll show 'em who I am—I demand that women shall be free and shall no longer be the slaves of a system which deprives them of their rights"

Profit In Seaweed.

The same species of seaweed used in Japan for the manufacture of kanten exists in inexhaustible abundance on our Pacific coast and at numerous places along the Atlantic coast, while related species, of equal value, are abundant almost everywhere in temperate waters. In this country the product commands high prices, so that the manufacture of seaweed isinglass ought to prove a highly remunerative industry.

Being Impartial

Mrs. Barlow was so essentially a matchmaker that it was impossible for her to see any unattached person without being fired with a desire to find some other unattached person of the opposite sex and approximately suitable age, bring them together and launch them upon the troubled sea of matrimony. That her brother, Tom Hobbs, was still unmarried was due to no lack of energy on her part.

Consequently, when Tom received her invitation to pass his vacation at her summer home he grinned knowingly. "Wonder what kind of female person she's going to hook me up with this time?" he chuckled to himself.

Being thus prepared in his own mind, he was neither surprised nor disgruntled when he stepped out of the motor car on to his sister's wide front porch to find the wealthy, if no longer strictly youthful, Miss Robbins gracefully postured in a reclining chair. He was somewhat surprised, however, a short time later, when his sister explained with a troubled expression that the extremely prosperous, though slightly passe, Miss Trotter was expected the next day.

"I hadn't planned to have those two girls here at the same time," she fretted, "but Molly Trotter wrote and asked if she might come two weeks earlier than I had intended to have her, and then it was too late to put Miss Robbins off. I'm afraid it won't be a bit nice or the way I meant to have it."

"Don't worry, old lady," said Hobbs soothingly. "I'll promise to be perfectly impartial."

"But I don't want you to—" began Mrs. Barlow. But Hobbs interrupted her with a shout of laughter.

"Oh, Polly, Polly!" he cried. "You certainly are the prize ostrich."

For the succeeding two weeks Hobbs devoted himself with the greatest assiduity to the two young women. Mrs. Barlow looked on with ill concealed discomfort, while her brother joyfully took drives and walks and excursions of various kinds with the two "girls."

Thus the days wore away more or less pleasantly until the day before Tom's departure for town. Mrs. Barlow had arranged a beach party and about ten o'clock that morning, being driven to desperation by the numberless accidents which invariably attend the preparations for such festivities, she ferreted Tom out to inform him unreservedly that she considered him a hopeless idiot. Upon being told why, Hobbs assured her that he had proposed to both her other guests and had been rejected by both.

"I told you I would be perfectly impartial," he concluded.

The beach party was a success in so far as beach parties can be termed successes when participated in by those who have outgrown their keen enjoyment of sand in sandwiches and mosquitoes in coffee. However, as they all sat around the fire after supper there was a distinct atmosphere of hilarity. The middle aged countenances had begun to assume that expression of pleased anticipation which indicates that home and bed are beginning to loom in sight. It had become quite dark and the scene was lit up only occasionally by a faint glow from the dying fire.

Then Barlow, exhilarated by the lively social converse and ginger ale, suddenly drew out his match safe.

"I never think it's a real picnic unless everybody holds hands. Now, one, two, three, I'm going to find out who's losing his opportunity."

As the match flared up for an instant there were two distinct ladylike giggles and what appeared to be a genteel scuffle in the place where Hobbs sat between Miss Robbins and Miss Trotter. Then the match went out, but not before every one had got full view of the two hands of Hobbs as he raised them aloft. In his right hand squirmed the left hand of Miss Robbins; in his left were the dainty digits of Miss Trotter.

"I always aim to be perfectly impartial," said Hobbs.

"No gentleman could have done such a thing," declared Mrs. Barlow to her brother a few moments later, as she stalked haughtily beside him back to the house, followed at some distance by her husband, flanked on either side by a statuesque and coldly silent figure. "If any one had told me that a brother of mine could have so far forgotten himself I never would have believed it"

"I'm awfully sorry," murmured Hobbs meekly, "but I'm so spontaneous, Polly dear. I really didn't know I was going to do it until it was all over. I'm such a child of nature. I just bubble over with spirits."

"Child of fiddlesticks!" said Mrs. Barlow. "You need a straitjacket and a keeper. Please go on up to bed before the others get here and I shall be very glad if you can make it convenient to leave before the rest of us get up in the morning. I'll see that breakfast is prepared for you. Otherwise, I wash my hands of you."

Inasmuch as she had washed her hands of him, the news of his engagement to the charming but impecunious, daughter of his landlady—which news he wrote to her a few days after his return to town—ought not to have caused her a ripple of unpleasant emotion. Nevertheless it did.

Monessen friends of Will Risbeck, proprietor of Hotel Lawrence, Donora, will be gratified to know that he is getting along nicely at the West Penn hospital, Pittsburgh, after an operation for gall stones.

Among the local passengers on the noon train to attend the ball game in the city today are Jules Jordan, Charles Shutterly, William Eller, William Riley.

Mrs. J. E. Newcomer has returned from Fort Recovery, O., where she was called by the death of her grandmother, Mrs. Semans, who succumbed several weeks ago after a lingering illness at the age of 93 years.

A fine new four story hotel is proposed for Donora, to be erected, it is said, by Pittsburgh capital. Plans are in course of making and it is thought the structure will provide forty or fifty guest rooms, with bath, electric light, call bells, etc., in each room. A spacious lobby, buffet, bar and public restaurant are to be included in the plans. It's thought the hotel will be completed by September.

W. C. T. U. WONEN VISIT THE SHUT-INS TO-DAY

This Friday afternoon the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Jeannette are visiting the "shuti-ns" of the county, distributing marks of good cheer. One delegation reached the county jail at Greensburg at 2:30 while another arrived at the county home at 2:45. The object is to distribute magaznies books, papers and various sorts of good reading material, also the visitors will have for the inmates a goodly supply of home baked cakes and other dainties to help cheer up their Sunday dinner. This seems to be a weekly occurrence and we learn that the prisioners and the home inmates always look forward to it with much gladness as it serves to dispel many a dark cloud and pass many pleasant hours which would otherwise be dull and dreary.

The committee in charge has arranged to have special cars for the return trip from the Tourni to be held at Exposition hall Pittsburgh April 24th. Cars to leave Exposition hall 2:30 after the reception and run to Roscoe. All members of the Masonic fraternity and sons under twenty one years of age who attend the Tourni will be presented with complimentary admission to the Knights Templer hall to be held at Exposition hall May 28th during State Conclave.

News Notes of Society

Mrs. Emil Grodecour of Monessen was at Monongahela Thursday afternoon where she attended a birthday party at the home of Mrs. Louis Grodecour given in honor of the third anniversary of her little daughter, little Miss Margorie Grodecour. Mrs Grodecour was assisted by Mrs. Grodecour of Monessen and Miss Bell Geekie of Charleroi. There were twelve little guests present and the children spent a most enjoyable afternoon in games, romping and listening to the stories told them by the older folks. Pink and white were the decorations and a most tasteful and pleasing arrangement was carried out. Dainty refreshments were served and the little tots remembered their friend by many little gifts.

TO START NEW GROCERY

Jack Todaro, an ambitious and highly respected young man expects to soon open a fine new grocery business at No. 1115 Schoonmaker avenue, between 11th and 12th streets, his stock being already shipped from New York. Mr. Todaro solicits the patronage of the people of Monessen and will give special attention to hotels and restaurants and will carry the very best grades of groceries, canned goods, etc., and in addition will continue to operate the Star meat market, every kind of meat always fresh. A specialty will be made of imported goods, especially pure olive oil, direct from Italy. Give him a call. He'll treat you right. 1t

Many Mines Starting Work

The Knob mine of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company, above West Brownsville, idle since April 1, has resumed operation. The Albany and Chamount mines of the same company will resume next Monday. About 1,500 men are affected. Two hundred additional coke ovens are being constructed at the Alicia mines, owned by W. Harry Brown of Pittsburgh.

APOSTOLIC SUCCESSION UNSCRIPTURAL.

Mark iii, 7-19; Matthew v, 13-16—April 21.

Text: "Ye did not choose Me, but I chose you and appointed you, that ye should go and bear fruit." —John xv, 16 (R. V.).

TODAY'S lesson shows the particularity with which the twelve Apostles were chosen. Some of the things said to and respecting them are equally appropriate to every one of Jesus' followers, but other things said to The Twelve and respecting them apply to none others of their day nor since. As for instance, the Savior said to The Twelve, and to none others, "Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven, and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven."

The import of these words clearly is that the persons indicated were assured that they would be so specially guided of Divine providence that they would set forth as the Divine will amongst men nothing to which Heaven would not assent; and they would declare not binding upon the followers of Jesus only such things as in God's sight would not be binding. In those twelve men, therefore, we recognize a plenary inspiration, or special guidance not accorded in this particular degree to others of the "brethren."

Apostles' unauthorized choice of Matthias.

Surely there is no intimation in the New Testament that as one after another of the Apostles died other men were recognized as succeeding them. On the contrary, the Scriptures repeatedly refer to the "Twelve Apostles of the Lamb." Moreover, as the Jewish Dispensation began at the death of Jacob, in the recognition of his twelve sons, so the Christian Dispensation began at the death of Jesus, in the recognition of His twelve Apostles. And as one of the tribes of Israel was cut off, and is not mentioned in the enumeration in the Apocalypse, but the tribe of Manasseh substituted, so amongst Jesus' Apostles Judas is dropped and a successor is appointed.

St. Paul to Succeed Judas.

In the past we may have read too carelessly the account of how the eleven faithful Apostles exceeded their authority in the selection of Matthias to take the place of Judas. They should have remembered that the Master specifically told them to do nothing until after receiving the heavenly benediction.

Accrediting them with the very best of heart intentions, it was, nevertheless, effrontery on their part to select two names and to determine that one or the other must be the successor of Judas. They had no authority for so doing. As for the one upon whom the lot fell, Matthias, we hear nothing further of him. In God's due time, He Himself brought forth Saul of Tarsus. St. Paul tells us that he found evidences that God had chosen him for a special service from his mother's womb. And such special preparation and supervision we doubt not was applicable to all of The Twelve.

"A Crown of Twelve Stars."

The Lord's specialization of the twelve Apostles is variously referred to. He said, "Have not I chosen you twelve?" And again, "Ye shall sit on twelve thrones." In the symbolical book of Revelation He pictures the Church as a woman clothed with sunlight, standing over or near to the moon, which symbolizes the Jewish Law Covenant; and upon her head was a crown of twelve stars, representing the twelve Apostles of the Lamb.

Again, later on in the same book, we find pictured the Church in glory beyond the veil, the Bride—the New Jerusalem. Of this City we read that it had twelve foundations, and in the twelve foundations the names of the twelve Apostles.

The recognition of successors to the Apostles was one of the first errors after their death. Every bishop was recognized as one of the successors and hence as possessing Apostolic authority. It was not long until the words of the original Twelve were neglected. The living bishops were acknowledged as speaking with the same Divine authority—up-to-date. Later great Church Councils were called in which these bishops, as claimed successors to the Apostles decided what should and what should not be believed by the Church, what was and what was not orthodox.

"Apostolic succession" unscriptural.

It can be readily seen that this exaltation of false apostles (Revelation ii, 2), contrary to the Divine arrangement, opened a flood-gate of error, however well intentioned all concerned may have been. It is surprising that so many still hold to the creeds thus formulated by pseudo-apostles. The need of the hour is a recognition of these facts and an abandonment of all those creeds and a return to the words of Jesus and the Apostles and the Prophets. Only thus can we extricate ourselves from the multiplied errors represented in the six hundred divisions of the church of Christ.

OLYMPIC

Three fine pictures with the American Press Association daily news, mostly of the ill-fated Titanic and four fine vaudeville acts—8 people—singing talking. dancing, etc., complete today's program. Our special feature is "The Section Foreman." A humble section foreman saves the lives of hundreds of passengers while his wife is on the verge of death, and is lost. The three Harris Brothers as dancers, beats anything we've ever had in Monessen—watch for our specials Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Tuesday, moving pictures, showing the sinking of the steamship Titanic.

MRS. SMITH TELLS OF HUSBAND'S END

That Lucien P. Smith, relative of George Moore associated with T. P. Cowan of the Bijou Theatre interests, went down on the Titanic, and that his bride of three months, is safe with her father and mother, Congressman and Mrs. James A. Hughes, of Huntington, W. Va., in a New York hotel, has been confirmed by long distance telephone, by James S. Smith, of Uniontown, to Alexander Chisholm, Jr., who is a friend of the family.

A story of the tender love and devotion for his beautiful young wife was that told of Lucien P. Smith by his young widow, last night, when the Carpathia docked in New York and Mrs. Smith was met by relatives and friends.

Mrs. Smith told of her husband putting her into a lifeboat after the vessel had been wrecked. The young wife was sleeping in her cabin and Lucien went down and brought her to the deck. The young woman had forgotten a treasured ring that her husband had given her shortly before their marriage on Feb. 7, and the husband went below and secured it.

He put it on his wife's finger, kissed her good bye, telling her that he would join her on another lifeboat as soon as the women and children had been put off. He placed his wife in a lifeboat and bade her good-bye as it left the Titanic.

Mrs. Smith told of the trip on the Carpathia to New York. She said that Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star line, had saved himself in preference to the women and children that were still on the decks when his lifeboat left the ill-fated vessel. She said that on the Carpathia, Ismay had secured the best quarters and had two doctors attending him, while 26 newly made widows, including herself, slept on the floor of the deck.

The young widow said that very few men in the first cabin were saved, but several steerage passengers, both men and women, were saved in preference to first cabin passengers.

She told of the great liner breaking in two when it went on the iceberg. Capt. Smith was giving a dinner at the time and no one was on the bridge of the vessel. When Capt. Smith saw that the Titanic was about to sink he shot himself.

Mrs Smith is in care of friends and relatives in New York.

Mr. Smith was a prominent citizen of Morgantown and operated an extensive garage and automobile salesroom.

A BILL EXTRAORDINARY AT THE OLYMPIC THEATRE

The bill at the Olympic this week is making many friends for this popular playhouse and it is one of the best balanced vaudeville attractions that has appeared here for some time. Ferrny and Shultz in a comedy character act are fine and their little sketch pleases immensely. Bill Wallace, eccentric comedian is one of the big hits of the show and it is seldom one as clever and original both in makeup and line of talk comes here. Baxter and La Conda in a singing dancing, and talking duo are very clever and the vaudeville bill closes with the three Harris Brothers, an act that, to say the least, is great. These clever artists are in a class entirely by themselves and should prove a big drawing card for this evening. As a special feature, Prof. Earnest Paaner, the well known violin virtuoso will appear in international airs. The moving pictures are some of the best on the market, incuding accounts from the recent ocean disaster to the big White Star liner, the Titanic.

SAFE AND SANE LUCIFERS MUST BE USED

Within the next few days many of the local stores will be supplied with matches of a different variety and the kind that contain no deadly poison. It has been known for some time that the big match trust owned and controlled by bloated millionairs have been sending broadcast over the land a product contaminated with deadly poison which has been the means of killing thousands of people.

The club women of the country have been trying to warn the people of the dangers of the poisonous match and have at last succeeded in inducing Congress to legislate along the lone of protection and the old white phosphorus match must go and many a poor innocent victim will be saved the pangs of that awful scourge called Phossy Jaw which is contracted by the lips coming in contact with either the head or body of a common match. The new brand that will be sold by merchants of Monessen and many others throughout the country is called the Salvation match. When ordering from the grocer be sure to specify the Salvation match and accept no other and thereby keep your family and children free from disease.

IT PAYS TO BE ON THE SAFE SIDE. SURE IT DOES

It is well known that muncipalities are liable for damages incurred by an individual through the failure to keep the streets in proper repair, but it takes an award of damages every now and then to impress this fact upon town councils.

On October 10, 1910, Howard Yocum of Reading, was riding a motor cycle along a paved street when the wheels struck a rut, the front fork was broken and penetrated his eye.

Yocum brought suit against the city and obtained a verdict of $8,400 and this amount has just been paid. The court held that the city had no defense and that it is its duty to keep its streets in a safe conditon at all times. This is a lesson which must be learned by borough authorities of every other town.

The plea that sufficient money cannot be obtained to keep the streets in repair will not go in a court of justice, and $8,400 would have kept many of the streets of Reading in a first-class condition so that no such accident as that which happened to Yocum would be possible.

POSTMASTER TAKES A REEF IN CORRESPONDENTS' SAIL

Clandestine correspondence is under the ban at the Connellsville postoffice and much excitement and undertone comment is heard among the younger set on all sides. Postmaster A. E. Kurtz has taken the initative in the matter and already some missives have been held up. The crusade is aimed at boys and girls still in their teens. The young people carry on the correspondence through the general delivery window and boys, unknown to their parents, who have knowledge only of the mail that is delivered by the carriers.

In the belief that corrupt morals and disgrace often result from such correspondence Postmaster Kurtz today issued positive orders to employees, with the approval of the Postmaster General, to prohibit the delivery of mail to minors through the general delivery or boxes, whose parents are local residents receiving their mail by carrier and with whom the minors reside and are dependent upon.

Unless they present the written consent of their father, if living, otherwise their mother, to receive their mail in that manner, letters will be held up Hereafter such letters will be forwarded to the parents who will be able to apply the knowledge to the best advantage.

BOY COMMITS SUICIDE FOR UNKNOWN REASON

Calling to his mother: "You won't see me again," Frank Bailey, 22 years old, of Uniontown, hurried to an upper room and drank carbolic acid. Fifteen minutes later his little sister found him lying dead across a bed. He had taken two ounces of the poison. The young man was a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Dorsey Bailey. Until a few weeks ago he was employed in a meat market in Uniontown. Then he securded employment on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. He drew his pay Monday. No motive for the deed has been given out.

For a good Sunday dinner read the announcement of the Busy Bee restaurant. Special chicken dinner and you'll be treated right.

Cossack and Saint.

A Paris contemporary by way of illustration as to how some persons discharge their religious obligations relates a story of a Cossack who was overtaken by a terrible storm of thunder and lightning in his terror he prayed to the saint to save him and promised if only he once more reached his home he would sell his horse and the proceeds should be spent in candles in honor of the Saint. The saint, pleased with so generous an offer, stayed the storm and the Cossack reached home in safety.

This is how he discharged his vow: The next day he went to the market with a cock and a horse. His method of sale was this: He would only sell the two together, the horse at 30 kopecks (about 15 pence) and the cock at 200 rubles (about £20) After a time the Cossack found a purchaser on these terms and faithful to his vow the Cossack devoted 15 pence to the purchase of candles for the altar of his patron saint.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR AT SMALL COST

A Simple Remedy Beautifies the Hair. Cures Dandruff, Stops Falling Hair.

What a pity it is to see so many people with thin, wispy hair, faded or streaked with gray, and realize that most of these people might have soft, glossy, abundant hair of beautiful color and lustre if they would but use the proper treatment. There is no necessity for grey hair under sixty-five years of age, and there is no excuse for anyone, young or old, having thin, straggling hair, either full of dandruff or heavy and rank smelling with excessive oil.

You can bring back the natural color of your hair in a few days and forever rid yourself of any dandruff and loose hairs, and make your hair grow strong and beautiful by using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. For generations common garden Sage has been used for restoring and preserving the color of the hair; and Sulphur is recognized by Scalp Specialists as being excellent for treatment of hair and scalp troubles.

If you are troubled with dandruff or itching scalp, or if your hair is losing its color or coming out, get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, and notice the improvement in the appearance of your hair after a few days' treatment.

WHY not give your lad the same training?

"When I was a growing lad, and came upon many words in my reading that I did not understand, my mother, instead of giving me the definition when I applied to her, uniformly sent me to the dictionary to learn it, and in this way I gradually learned many things besides the meaning of the individual word in question—among other things, how to use a dictionary, and the great pleasure and advantage there might be in the use of the dictionary. Afterwards, when I went to the village school, my chief diversion, after lessons were learned and before they were recited, was in turning over the pages of the 'Unabridged' of those days. Now the most modern Unabridged—the NEW INTERNATIONAL—gives me a pleasure of the same sort. So far as my knowledge extends, it is at present the best of the one-volume dictionaries, and quite sufficient for all ordinary uses. Even those who possess the splendid dictionaries in several volumes will yet find it a great convenience to have this, which is so compact, so full, and so trustworthy as to leave, in most cases, little to be desired."—Albert S. Cook, Ph.D., LL.D., Professor of the English Language and Literature, Yale Univ. April 26, 1911.
